The Honourable the Resident in Mysore,
The Resident at Baroda,
The Resident at Gwalior,
The Honourable the Agent to the Governor General in Rajputana,
The Honourable the Agent to the Governor General in Central India,
The Honourable the Agent to the Governor General in the States of Western India,
The Honourable the Agent to the Governor General in the Punjab States,
The Agent to the Governor General, Madras States.

Sir,

In connection with the payment to States of grants from the Government of India's reserve in the road development account, certain objections have been taken to the procedure which the Government of India in the first instance proposed and to the conditions which, in certain cases they have already attached to those offers. The Government of India have therefore had under consideration the question of the conditions subject to which these grants shall, with retrospective effect to those already offered, be offered and paid. In the first instance, there appears to be some misunderstanding as to the nature of the road development account and of the reserve at the disposal of the Government of India therein and it is necessary that the situation should be clearly understood.

2. The position is this. Ordinary shares in the road development account, that is to say the shares, calculated on the basis of petrol consumption, of 50 per cent. of the proceeds of the additional tax on petrol, are allotted to the province or State concerned and are subject, in the case of British India, to the restriction that they may not be expended except upon schemes to be approved by the Government of India. From the States the Government of India ask that they shall indicate generally the objects to which these shares will be applied.

3. The reserve with the Government of India, however, is on a totally different footing. It is a deduction of 10 per cent. from the proceeds of this tax which is levied throughout India and has been placed at their disposal for special purposes such as the construction of roads or bridges of more than local importance. Thus in the case of the ordinary shares, the money after distribution is merged in the revenues of the province or State as the case may be. The reserve, however, is intended for such specific objects as may be approved by the Government of India as having some all-India significance and the authority to whom the grant is made and through whom the expenditure will be incurred is a secondary consideration. In these circumstances the Government of India are unable to distinguish in principle between the measure of their responsibility in respect of expenditure from the reserve by provincial Governments and by States respectively.

4. All expenditure by Local Governments is subject to Audit under the control of the Auditor General in India. On the technical side detailed estimates are submitted to the Government of India when called for and there is close co-operation between the provincial Public Works Departments and the Road Engineer with the Government of India; and in the case of Local Governments these two factors together satisfy the requirements of the case. In the case of States, however, the Government of India do not desire to impose any conditions beyond those which are, they believe, the minimum compatible with the proper discharge of their responsibility. They would not, for instance, desire to institute anything in the nature of audit; nor would they press for formal submission of projects. Nevertheless, while giving full weight to the special circumstances involved, they feel that they would not be justified in divesting themselves of all responsibility in respect of these grants and they have therefore approved of the procedure set out in the attached memorandum as substantially discharging their liability on the one hand without, on the other, in any way infringing the position of the States.

5. It will be seen that the conditions set out in this memorandum prescribe informal consultation with an officer authorised by the Government of India, in respect of plans and estimates for and the expenditure upon, any work to which the Government of India may contribute from their reserve. The object of these conditions is this: The Government of India must be reasonably satisfied that any grant they make is properly applied in the prescribed proportion to the execution of approved work up to a reasonable standard. It would clearly be absurd for them to contribute towards the cost of building high level bridges on one part of a through road in the place of existing causeways when on some other section of the same road there were no bridges or causeways whatever in existence. It would also be clearly out of the question for them to make grants to States in advance and to leave it to the States concerned to carry out the work in due course. It would also be a neglect of their responsibility if they contributeed towards the cost of some badly designed or improperly constructed bridge which shortly afterwards collapsed. In the conditions which they propose therefore the underlying intention is that the Road Engineer with the Government of India or some other officer authorised in this behalf should first satisfy himself not only as to the reasonableness of the proposals having regard to the standards on connected roads but also also as to the approximate correctness of the estimate, which must, in the place of Audit of expenditure, be the basis for the payment of the grant. Payment would normally be made on satisfactory completion at the stated percentage of the amount certified by the Darbar to have been spent subject to the prescribed maximum; and payment "on account" during the progress of the work will be made by arrangement. In effect satisfactory completion will mean completion to the satisfaction of some officer authorised by Government in this behalf and payment "on account" by arrangement will in effect mean payment on the authority of that officer.

6. In all cases where grants have been offered on conditions somewhat differing from those now outlined, a fresh reference is being made repeating the offer of the grant on the revised terms and conditions, and I am to ask that, in the event of any question arising in future in connection with these grants, you will explain the position to the Darbar concerned and make it quite clear that the Government of India are not prepared to consider any further modification of these conditions.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

J.A. SHILLIDY,

Secretary to the Government of India.

Procedure to be followed in the sanctioning and payment of grants to States from the Government of India's reserve in the road development account.

1. The procedure divides itself into three stages, as follows:-

(a) Applications from the States for grants; and intimation by the Government of India of intention to contribute from their reserve, wholly or in part, as may be indicated in respect of any specific project and subject to the conditions stated.

(b) Informal concurrence in the details of the project by an officer authorised by the Government of India in this behalf.

(c) Execution of the work and payment of Government contribution thereon.

2. The conditions referred to in paragraph 1(a) above will be as follows:-

(i) The Darbar will undertake to complete the work within a time to be agreed upon.

(ii) The detailed plans and estimates for the work will be of such a standard as is considered suitable.

(iii) The share to be met from the Government of India's reserve in the road development account will be paid on the satisfactory completion of the project. Should the Darbar so desire payments "on account" during progress of the work may be made by arrangement with the Government of India. The Road Engineer with the Government of India, or such other officer as may be authorised in this behalf, shall be afforded access to the work as occasion rises.

3. Applications for grants from the reserve have generally been received. Further applications are not invited at this stage. The Government of India have intimated or will shortly intimate to the Political Officer concerned the cases in which they are prepared to offer a grant and the amount which they are prepared to offer.

4. The Road Engineer with the Government of India, or such other officer as may be authorised in this behalf, will satisfy himself by informal discussion with the officers of the Durbar that the scheme is to the required standard, having regard to the needs of uniformity in through communications and to the standards appertaining in the neighbouring sections.

5. The Government of India will formally intimate that the necessary provision has been set aside in their reserve and that the work may be commenced.

6. Payments "on account" may from time to time be arranged on application to the Government of India.

7. Final payment of the agreed share will be made upon satisfactory completion.

All communications should be addressed to the Secretary to the Resident in Mysore, Bangalore, by designation and not by name.
